Active duty and retired Army service members, family members, widow(er)s and orphans of all deceased soldiers. This office services all the Hawaiian Islands, American Samoa, Guam and Johnston Island.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION/SERVICES PROVIDED

The Army Emergency Relief (AER) Program at Schofield Barracks provides direct financial services to all the Hawaiian Islands, American Samoa, Guam and Johnston Island.

The Army Emergency Relief's primary program provides financial assistance to include interest-free loans, grants (when loan repayment would cause undue hardship) and a combination loan and grant (when partial payment can be made without undue hardship). AER's secondary program, administered by Headquarters AER, provides monetary assistance for dependent student educational scholarships.

Active duty Army, retirees, and their dependents, orphans and widow(er)s of active duty or retired personnel are eligible for AER services. Military identification and documentation is required. Clients must show need and the need must fall within authorized categories established by Army regulations.

ARMY FAMILY ADVOCACY PROGRAM Phone: 655-2400 Bldg: #2091, Schofield Barracks (Army Community Center)	All active duty soldiers and their family members.

Family Advocacy is a program under Army Community Service with two components: Family Advocacy Prevention at Wheeler Army Air Field and Family Advocacy Intervention/Treatment services at Tripler Army Medical Center.

The Army Family Advocacy Program is a vigorous proactive program to address child abuse and neglect as well as spouse abuse. The primary goal is to prevent abuse by providing a variety of services to strengthen Army families and enhance their ability to adapt to military life.

The Army Family Advocacy Case Review Committee (FACRC) is a multidisciplinary team that coordinates medical, legal, law enforcement, and social service assessment, identification, investigation and treatment functions and command intervention from the initial report of spouse or child abuse to case closure.

The FACRC meets regularly at Schofield Barracks to review reports of spouse and child maltreatment which occur within its catchment area. The FACRC develops a treatment plan for delivery of necessary services to ensure the safety of the abused child or spouse.

FACRC points of contact may be reached during regular duty hours, 0730 to 1630 hours, Monday through Friday, by telephoning 433-8575 (Schofield Barracks).
